Asks for Increased Force and $106,000 for New Equipments.

CITIZENS ARE NOT AIDING

Policemen and Sanitary Officers Not Active in Reporting Ordinance Violations.

More men, more machinery, changes in ordinances, and stricter enforcement of existing laws were the salient demands of the Street Cleaning Department presented to the Administrative Board yesterday afternoon. Superintendent Henry Cohn went over the work of his department in detail, speaking for more than three hours, illustrating his plans, and using as a text his annual report submitted to Mayor Ainslie yesterday morning.

Taking up first the urgent need of more men, Mr. Cohn stated there were 7,846 buildings in the city, from which ashes and garbage have to be collected. To remove garbage he now has only sixteen men, or the impossible average of 27 calls per day to the Administrative Board of ashes and trash department has sixty-two men, divided into twelve gangs, making 2,520 calls a week, or one man to each 2,133 of population. Mr. Cohn urged the board to increase the number of men to 100, and using as a text his annual report submitted to Mayor Ainslie yesterday morning.

Coming down to street and alleys, about the condition of which there has recently been much well-grounded complaint, Mr. Cohn estimated that there were 200 miles of streets and about 100 miles of alleys, with 187 miles of gutters under his charge, with sixty men in the street cleaning gangs. His comparative charts were based on the total mileage of streets, but Mr. Beck, of the board, pointed out that only about fifty-seven miles of the streets and twenty miles of the alleys are paved. In answer to questions from Mr. Beck, Mr. Cohn stated that there had been eighty-nine men in the street cleaning department two years ago, when the city's population was less than 50,000. Now there are 157 men in the department. Mr. Beck wanted to know why if the city had increased its population, the street cleaning department had not increased its force.

Mr. Cohn stated that the cost of sweeping is 46.7 cents per capita, or one sweeper to each 2,133 of population. He recommended the paying of certain costs to stop the tracking of mud into broad and other thoroughfares, and that steps be taken to see that citizens do their part. The police, he said, did not enforce the ordinance against the scattering of ashes and trash in the streets, and the sanitary officers and inspectors under the Board of Health he considered of even less aid, as they never seem to report anyone.

Removal of Trade Waste. The serious attention of the board was called to the matter of removal of trade waste. The city should not have expected Mr. Cohn to remove the refuse of big hotels or great manufacturing plants, nor the ashes of great office buildings. He should limit the quantity of refuse hauled from any one place. Mr. Cohn asked that his department be relieved of the burden of cleaning street basins, which he thought should fall on the street force and also of cleaning water troughs, which he thought the Water Department should look after. He strongly recommended the use of flushing machines for paved streets, and asked for the use of emergency calls to haul off dead dogs and cats. His report did not show the relative cost of incineration at the two plants nor the cost per load of garbage to be hauled.

Mr. Cohn submitted the following comparative statement of his expenditures during the past year, and requests for allowance fees during the year to come:

	1912	1913
Dog pound.....	$ 2,900.17	$3,031.50
Crematorium.....	5,482.65	5,482.65
Incinerator.....	4,057.60	4,445.50
Expenses.....	28,425.66	36,343.00
Pay roll.....	102,124.45	102,124.45

Want New Equipment. New equipment asked for by Mr. Cohn in addition to the above items, includes three flushing machines at $1,000 each; two motorized carts for carrying two motorized carts for dead animals; $500; four double sprinklers; $1,500; single sprinklers $300; three automobile dump wagons, $5,000; sixteen carts for garbage, fourteen carts for cleaning, $1,500; fifty mules, $15,000; forty-three sets of harness, $1,225; four sets double harness, $100; 100 trash cans, $125; 100 foot hoes, $100; new carts, $100; improvements at new stations, $30,000; total $106,000.50. In the pay-roll account Mr. Cohn proposes an increase to thirty-two garbage men, ninety-two ash men and 100 street cleaners, and to put on four alley inspectors and other employees, bringing the total force to 254 men, an increase of ninety-seven men over the present force of 157.

Statistical tables accompanying the report show that during the past year the Street Cleaning Department has cleaned 74,709 linear squares of streets, 15,878 squares of gutters, 30,441 squares of alleys. It has scraped 1,519 squares of dirt streets, removed grass from 326 blocks, cleared 1,705 sewer basins, swept 21,591 crossings, hauled away 70,313 loads of garbage, 19,099 loads of ashes, 12,779 loads of snow, and 92 loads of paper. The total amount of garbage incinerated during the year was 12,065,000 pounds, at the old crematorium on St. John Street, and 12,462 pounds at the new incinerator. Of this latter 6,246,571 pounds was delivered by private concerns. There were impounded during the year 1,849 dogs, of which number 229 were redeemed, 31 sold and 1,485 killed.

GEORGIA CANCELS GAME NEWHEARD COACH FOR TROOPS

Basketball Will Not Be Played With Wake Forest's Fast Quint.

Wake Forest, N. C., January 28.—The student body is keenly disappointed by the fact that the University of Georgia basketball team has cancelled its game here for the 29th. The Crackers are reported as having an unusually fast team, and Wake Forest was anxious to meet them on their home floor. Three games have been arranged in addition to the schedule as originally announced. Two are to be played with North Carolina and Guilford with their floors during the first week of March. The exact dates have not yet been agreed upon. The third is with Emory and Henry College, of Virginia, to be played here February 10. This makes three games for Wake Forest. Basketball has always taken well with the visitors who flood the "hill" during that week, and Manager Henry is fortunate in securing three good drawing cards for this season.

Manager Pruett, of the basketball team, has arranged a Southern trip for the last week of April, which includes games with the University of North Carolina, the University of Georgia, Mercer University and others. The complete schedule will be announced in a few days.

ARTHUR WILSON LAST HOLDOUT

Big Backstop of Giants Returns Contract to Secretary Foster Unsigned.

Decatur, Ill., January 28.—Arthur Wilson, the Giants' catcher, announced to-day he will not sign the contract offered to him by Manager McGraw. Wilson said he sent his contract back unsigned. Wilson admitted he had not signed the contract, but did not think the increase was big enough. Now that he is married, Wilson says, he needs more money.

Wilson is well fixed, and does not have to play baseball for a living. He owns much valuable farm land in this locality. It is said his wife would be pleased if he would retire from the professional diamond.

GLENDON REGAINS WORK ON CREWS

Activities at Naval Academy Will Start as Soon as Weather Permits.

Annapolis, Md., January 28.—Richard Glendon of Boston, who for many years has coached the Naval Academy crews with great success, returned to Annapolis to-day and met a large squad of rowing candidates. Work will begin at once on the machines and crews will be put to work in the tank within a few days.

As soon as weather permits, the crews will get out in the open. In view of the curtailment of the Academy crew races for the Henley Regatta of a mile and 500 yards, some difficulty in arranging a good schedule is expected. The squad, however, is large and it is proposed to put at least four eight-oared crews on the water, including a fourth-class crew, and at least two fours.

JEFFRIES-JOHNSON FIGHT PICTURES PUT IN FURNACE

Ten thousand feet of moving picture films depicting the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Rosend, N.Y., were destroyed yesterday in the United States Appraisers' Stores in New York. Five reels were sent to Brazil a year ago by an American concern. Under the contract the South American exhibitors were to return the films here after a certain period of exhibition. The films came back on the Lampert-Holt liner Verdi a few weeks ago.

In the meantime Congress has passed a law prohibiting entrance into the United States of prize fight films. F. A. Higgins, appraiser of the port, gave the American owners of the reels the alternative of sending the reels back to the Brazilian senders or of having them destroyed here.

The owners decided to have them destroyed to prevent the Brazilians from exhibiting the picture again with no resulting profit to the American. Representatives of the company and the federal authorities were present when the films were consigned to a furnace.

Amateur Baseball Commission Meets To-Morrow

The Amateur Baseball Commission will meet to-morrow night at 8:15 o'clock in the office of the Sporting Editor, to consider the proposed changes in the rules suggested by the rules committee. There are a number of other important questions to be considered in connection with the coming season. President Hill strongly urges that all the members of the commission arrive promptly, so that the work can be accomplished without delay. He also urges that the members of the commission have been tardy in attending meetings.

Committee Abandons Idea in Connection With Southern Educational Conference.

ARRANGEMENTS GOING ON

Delegates Will Be Entertained. Personnel of Local Committees.

All thought of a great historical pageant as a feature of the Conference for Education in the South, which will be held in Richmond April 13 to 18, was abandoned at the meeting of the committee on arrangements, held in the courtroom of the State Corporation Commission, at the Capitol, yesterday afternoon.

It had been suggested that a great parade be given here, showing the progress made in educational conditions in the South. But the committee has decided it to be too large an undertaking to be worked out in the limited time at their disposal, and more particularly with the limited funds they will have.

Mrs. B. B. Munford, general chairman of the committee on arrangements, presided yesterday. Meeting with the committee was Dr. A. P. Bourland, of Washington, executive secretary of the Conference for Education in the South.

Money and Entertainment. Satisfactory progress in the arrangements for the great convention was reported from the various committees. Naturally the liveliest and most painful subject was that of finance. The city gives $1,250, but, of course, this sum, small when the magnitude of things to be done is considered. However, Chairman John Skelton Williams, of the committee on finance, thought sufficient funds can be raised for the purposes desired.

Governor Mann, chairman of the Committee on Entertainment, spoke of several affairs being arranged for the pleasure of the delegates and visitors. At the instance, the Valentine Museum proposed to give a series of receptions each afternoon of the conference to the visitors. This offer was gratefully accepted. A tentative plan is for an informal reception at the Executive Mansion, given by Governor and Mrs. Mann, one evening.

An excursion to Jamestown Island, on the Saturday of the week, after the conference has adjourned, is a possibility. Many exhibits will be placed in the old High School, in which farm demonstration will be especially prominent. Health work will be given on exhibit. It was decided to have most of the general public meetings in the auditorium of the John Marshall High School. However, as so many independent bodies will be in session at the same time, it will be necessary at the same time to use the Jefferson Auditorium, the Hotel Richmond Auditorium, the auditorium of the Mechanics' Institute, and other places.

Committees in It was announced that the executive committee of arrangements will be composed as follows: R. C. Stearnes, chairman; John Stewart Bryan, Dr. H. H. Frissell, Hampton; William E. Dabney, Frank W. Duke, J. G. Corley, O. S. Sandy, Burkeville; Rev. D. Clay Lilly, D. D. J. D. Eggleston, Washington, D. C.; John Skelton Williams, Westmoreland, Davis, Leesburg; P. M. McConnell, Emory Murray Boocock, Kewick; Major James H. Dooley, Henry W. Anderson, Dr. J. C. Metcalf, former Governor Andrew Jackson Montague, Julian Harrison, Harrisonburg; J. B. Blackstone; Mrs. L. B. Dashiell, Mrs. B. B. Valentine, Mrs. J. Taylor Ellison, Mrs. E. C. Minor, Mrs. T. H. Bigger, H. K. Colvin, Alexandria; Rev. W. Darling, Hampton; George Abelle, Mayor of Richmond; Robert Whittey, Jr., chairman of the Administrative Board; W. H. Adams, president of the Board of Aldermen; and R. J. Peters, president of the Common Council.

Following are the chairmen of other committees: Publicity, Dr. A. W. Freeman; excursions, E. S. Goodman; meeting places, Dr. J. C. Chandler; registration, A. H. Hill; reception, Governor William Hodges Mann; exhibits, J. H. Binford; printing, Edgar Woolfolk; entertainment, James G. Harwood; finance, John Skelton Williams.

Academy of Music—Dark. Bijou—Charley Grapevine, in "Between Showers." Colonial—Vaudeville. Empire—Minstrel Musical Comedy. Lubin—Vaudeville.

Give Them Back About a Dollar! It cost Richmond's tractable theatre-goers yesterday the modest sum of $2.50 to put the "enter" into the entertainment offered at the Academy of Music by Weber & Fields under the meaning name of "Hokey Pokey," while those recently reconciled artists contributed choice bits of their dear old choking dialogue of other days, besides their poker game and status scene; several other amusing bits enacted by members of their company, and a number of beautiful pictures presented by some thirty—not sixty—moderately good-looking chorus girls variously, frequently and splendidly costumed.

And that is about all; there was no pretty music; few "head-liners"; very little, if any, real singing, and no burlesque, of the entire performance so often presented by Weber & Fields, one of which, called "The Squaw Man's Girl of the Golden West," Weber included in his own production some six or seven years ago. Yesterday they offered simply a big burlesque, punctuated by a few amusing scenes, which was far from being worth seeing at the rate of precisely $1 the hour. It is only fair to say that those who had never heard the dialogue, never seen Lew Clarke Joe or Joe jut out his pneumatic corpulence, never seen the poker game or the status scene, greeted it all with roars of laughter, while those to whom it had all been familiar for many years welcomed every bit of the old business with the cordial smile commonly bestowed upon almost forgotten friends.

Frank Daniels failed to fit in altogether, except in the "Moving Pictures" number, which he and May Booley succeeded in making the most amusing moment of the entire performance. May Booley—last here with Fritz Schell—was not only effective in this skit, but scored whenever her part permitted.

Arturo Arango, handsome and double-dimpled, was altogether attractive, and, with Walter Lawrence, sang the "Comic Opera" duet very cleverly. Arthur Aylsworth was conspicuously misshapen in the very small bit assigned to him.

Bessie Clayton received a storm of applause for her dancing, which was remarkable if not particularly graceful. The chorus sang mildly and unobtrusively, and showed little of the rigid drilling for which the Weber & Fields choruses have long been noted, but it was composed of unusually pretty women, both show girls and ponies, and the coloring was undoubtedly gorgeously spectacular—the gowns of any one of the show girls were quite handsome enough for any of the principals to have worn.

To the house orchestra this "Company of 100" contributed five men, including the leader, who, by the way, with the assistance of the drummer increased the importance of the "Moving Pictures" act immeasurably. At the outside, probably fifty of this much-heralded, immense, and amazing company were visible; doubtless the other fifty worked back stage or remained on the "Winged Victory" set.

Still, Weber & Fields charged two dollars and a half and "got away with it," therefore they are not only good German comedians, but artists, certainly, in the gentle art of making money for the theatre. They are good against the earnest protests of the house management.

And—they packed the house. W. Douglas Gordon.

The Remington rolled 933-1052-1059 for a total of 3,044 in the three games. This is a feat never before accomplished in the State. Nine of the Remington scores were over the 200 mark. Blair led his team for high total, with Overman a close second. All of the Remington players seemed to be in good form.

MAY ERECT APARTMENTS

Well Known Builder Dickerling for Wells Property for New Structure. There is a persistent rumor that handsome four-story apartment house will be erected on the Southside. While the exact site is not known, it is said that the new structure will be in all probability be built at the southeast corner of Thirteenth and Porter Streets. This lot is now owned by Judge Ernest H. Wells. He has been approached by a well known builder with a view to its sale, but has not yet closed the deal. Those who appear to know something about the proposed building say that it will be modern in all respects. It will be four stories, with two departments on each floor. The proposed site is 50 by 150 feet. It is located in the most valuable residential section of the Southside.

CAUGHT IN ACT Young Man Arrested by Officer Waymack While Riffing Cash Drawer. In the very act of rifling a cash drawer R. C. Traylor, twenty-two years old, was arrested yesterday by Officer W. E. Waymack in the store of W. J. Carter, the druggist, 109 Hull Street. When seized by the officer the young man had in his hand a $10 bill which he had succeeded in extracting from the drawer, and was about to place in his pocket.

The capture of Traylor was due to the strategy of Mr. Waymack in the important details by Officer Waymack. Mr. Carter has on several occasions been the victim of similar robberies and has been on the lookout for the guilty party. Yesterday his suspicions were aroused. After hiding the policeman behind a screen in the front of the store he walked out the door and stood on the sidewalk. Traylor slipped behind the counter and opening the drawer pulled out the first piece of money in sight. As he did so he was grabbed by Waymack. He made no resistance and walked quietly to the Third Station.

Jury Awards Judgment. Judgment in the sum of $300 was returned yesterday by the jury which in Hastings County, Pa., heard the case of R. E. Prather against A. Durvin. The contestants were represented by Isaac Diggs for the plaintiff, and R. H. Talley and L. R. Page for the defendant. The suit involved the recovery of commissions due on the sale of realty.

Judge Ernest H. Wells will leave this morning for Amelia Courthouse, where he will sit for Judge Robert G. Southall in the Circuit Court.

Appoints Bridge Commissioners. Commissioners have been appointed by the Chesterfield Board of Supervisors to secure right of way for the proposed bridge across Grosman's road on the Atlantic Coast Line. The proposed bridge will be erected at a point several yards below the present crossing in order to save building approaches. By this move the country road will be shortened by the elimination of a large curve.

In Police Court. Upon payment of court costs Moses Thornton, who was arrested yesterday morning before Justice Maurice in Police Court on a charge of refusing to pay for pool games played at the establishment of W. A. Neal, was dismissed. He squared the bill before court convened.

Arthur Thomas and Samuel Young, a pair of colored belligerents, were yesterday fined $5 and $10 and costs respectively on a charge of fighting and disorderly conduct in Sowers' pool room.

T. M. Smith and E. J. Hudgens were each assessed $5 and costs on charges of disorderly conduct.
